R.D.T., LVI MASTER TECHNICIAN

PORCELAIN DEPARTMENT SUPERVISOR, IDL PRESIDENT

As president, Jennifer takes great pleasure in knowing the IDL team share her enthusiasm for producing superior products. As the supervisor of the porcelain department, Jennifer's attention to detail, esthetic ability, product knowledge and clinical experience have made her an invaluable resource for doctors.

Having been raised in the dental laboratory business, Jennifer received a uniquely in-depth education in all areas of the laboratory from early on. Those early experiences instilled the importance of a thorough, life-long education. After receiving her R.D.T. accreditation in Ontario, Jennifer's passion for replicating natural tooth structures led her to become a ceramist. Her skills encompass the perfect balance of esthetic craftsmanship and technical precision.

Always eager to further develop IDL's existing skills, Jennifer regularly attends courses at the Las Vegas Institute for Advanced Dental Studies (LVI) to participate in courses engineered for dentists as well as specialty courses for technicians. Jennifer has thousands of hours of clinical training and is a member of the CDTO, ADTO, and NADL.

Jennifer's foresight into the patient's desire for metal-free, biocompatible, beautiful restorations led to the successful integration of Ivoclar Vivadent's IPS e.max system into the laboratory's production process. After extensive testing, Jennifer saw the product's inherent strength and versatility made it possible to fabricate reliable restorations that exhibit exceptional esthetics, even when cases demanded multiple complex restorations. She found that each piece can be completely customized according to the requirements.

As IDL's president, Jennifer's main goals are "to go above and beyond the expectations of our clients by delivering consistently superior products and excellent patient care." As a tireless mother to three energetic young children, Jennifer's main goals are "to keep the kids happy, healthy and safe for as long as possible."

Whether you would like assistance with treatment planning, selecting the most suitable product for optimal results, or require a diagnostic case model, Jennifer would enjoy hearing from you. Call IDL today: 1.800.461.7559.
